STATEMENT: [REDACTED] was working Superman as the loader. There was a girl and her friend who had just rode and asked to ride again. There were plenty of seats so they rode in section 3 with the eventual victim in the furthest right seat. As the ride was ascending the operators noticed some noises coming from the ride about halfway up. As the ride continued up, the operators scanned to see anything unusual when a cable snapped as the ride approached the top. [REDACTED] heard some screams and thought the ride might freefall and decided to hit e-stop. Before she reached the bottom the ride released and injured the guest. Upon return, [REDACTED] noticed the guest was seated in the restraint such that the seatbelt was holding the guest in.
