A PUBLICATION OF THE KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

From Richie Farmer, Kentucky Commissioner of Agriculture

Dear friends,

As my term as your Commissioner of Agriculture winds down, I am pleased to be able to welcome you one more time to the Kentucky Junior Livestock Expos.

Through the years, we have expanded from one junior livestock expo to three, and all three have grown dramatically. Hundreds of young people come to the expos to sharpen their skills in the judging and skill-a-thon contests and to compete in the livestock shows.

The expos provide intense competition these exhibitors can use to prepare for the Kentucky State Fair and national shows. They also provide positive, constructive activities for our youth, and enable them to learn valuable life lessons they will take with them long after the last animal has left the show ring.

Good luck to all exhibitors, and best wishes to the parents, teachers, sponsors and volunteers who make the Kentucky Junior Livestock Expos possible.

Sincerely,

Commissioner of Agriculture
Commonwealth of Kentucky

Knowing this information will assist you with ration balancing, and will help you determine the proper amount of supplements needed to maintain proper nutrition and maintain healthy livestock.

For your FREE test, complete the coupon below and return it to the address below with a sample of your hay. One coupon per participant.
